Academic Audit Summary for Academic Year 2022-23

IQAC considers every factor that could have a beneficial effect on students and institutions through teaching and learning, assessment, evaluation, and suggesting improvement. The college, with support from IQAC, encouraged teachers and students to actively take part in workshops, seminars, and conferences related to their fields. They also suggested enrolling in various online, MOOC, and NPTEL courses to keep up with the latest industry trends and continually upgrade their knowledge and skills.

IQAC Focus and subsequent Recommendations:

- 1 Workshops may be conducted for faculty members on improvised design and development of e-content, online assessment tools, and student's assessment through these tools, personalized learning of students according to their pace and learning styles.
- 2 Promotion of at least 30% of the projects designed and developed by student and faculty to impact the society to be undertaken
- 3 Institute may develop a policy to promote conduction of Seminars/Workshops for stakeholders outside the institute for promoting sharing of knowledge and resource mobilization.
- 4 Engagement in Industry-based Projects: Suggests involvement in industry projects to enhance research with practical insights and hands-on experience.
5. Internships in the research and development unit of Industries: Emphasizes internships for students to gain practical exposure, enhance critical thinking skills and work on segments of applied research.

IQAC stressed the importance of project-based learning (PBL) to establish a strong connection between the industry and academia and instil experiential learning. This approach effectively bridges the gap between theoretical knowledge and relevant application of knowledge.
